THE CATALOG MODULE... having control makes a difference!

Change the Size of screen and Layout to best fit your Library.

The screenshot shows the 'LIBRARYSOFT® Catalog Module' window with a standard layout. The 'Basic' tab is selected. The interface includes fields for Title, Secondary Titles, Library, Loan Type, Copy No., Author, Author Origin, Author 2, Author 3, Illustrator, Subject 1-5, Subject Type, Publisher, Place of Publ., Periodical Date, Price, Publ. Date, Volume No., Edition, Call Number, Alt. Call No., Barcode, ISBN, and Content Type. A toolbar at the bottom contains icons for navigation and actions like Edit, Add, and Delete.

This screenshot shows the same 'LIBRARYSOFT® Catalog Module' window but zoomed in. The layout is more compact, with fields and labels appearing larger and more prominent. The same set of fields and toolbar are visible, demonstrating how the interface can be scaled for better readability.

The 'Parameters' dialog box is shown with the 'Catalog Custom Fields' tab selected. It contains a table with columns for 'Field Name' and 'Field Length'. An 'Add Custom Field' sub-dialog is open, showing 'Field Name' set to 'Technical' and 'Field Length' set to '100'. The sub-dialog has 'Ok' and 'Cancel' buttons. The main dialog has 'Add' and 'Delete' buttons at the bottom.

Add up to 13 more data entry fields!

Multilingual even work with Hebrew, Chinese or Arabic fonts.

The screenshot shows the 'LIBRARYSOFT® Catalog Module' window with the 'Custom' tab selected. A new field labeled 'Technical:' is visible in the main data entry area, demonstrating the result of adding a custom field through the parameters dialog.
